CLONMEL JUNCTION ARTS FESTIVAL

WELCOME

From plays about hurling to high brow art films, this year we will use the Junction Dome as a space for live performances in theatre, literature, film and more. Just like the circus, the dome is coming to town. This year's festival will also take over the empty shops in Market Place, as well as popping up in Cahir Castle, the Hidden History Museum, Main Guard, CTI and South Tipperary Arts Centre. Get your tickets online at www.junctionfestival.com or drop into our Box Office at Market Place from 7 June. See it at Junction!

Please Note:

ALL INFORMATION IS CORRECT AT TIME OF GOING TO PRINT, DETAILS MAY BE SUBJECT TO CHANGE, ALL UP TO DATE INFORMATION WILL BE ON OUR WEBSITE AND SOCIAL MEDIA PLATFORMS.

THEATRE

Junction Dome and Market Place will be the venues for our theatre programme. We are co-producing Pucked by Cathal Ryan, directed by Jack Reardon with Source Arts Centre; working with award-winning Asylum Productions on a site-specific play Everything Must GO! at the former supermarket in Market Place; and bringing audiences to some popular shows from our online festivals.

CJAF

Everything Must GO!

📅 1st–3rd, and 7th–9th July 📍 Market Place

🕒 7.30pm ⌚ 90mins 💶 €15 👥 All Ages

At 2pm on January 22nd 2016, the supermarket at Market Place closed its doors for the last time... until now. Everything Must GO! is a laugh out loud comedy about consumer capitalism. Located in the old supermarket, this theatrical and musical show will recreate and reimagine the still vacant premises's former life. Produced by award-winning Asylum Productions, directed by Donal Gallagher, designed by Medb Lambert, written by Aideen Wylde and Donal Gallagher and performed by a large cast of disgruntled ex-shoppers.

Pucked

📅 30th June, 1st & 2nd July 📍 Junction Dome

🕒 8pm ⌚ 75mins 💰 €15 👥 16+

A play about Hurling that is as fast-moving as the game itself. Matty Daly is a young hurler who dreams of making it to the senior team. He's feeling the pressure from his mam and dad, his teammates and arch-nemesis Conor Dooley, as well as the people of the village where he lives. Experience the highs of playing and the lows of the WhatsApp group you're not in from the sidelines, you will definitely laugh and might even cry. A Clonmel Junction Arts Festival and Source Arts Centre co-production written by and starring Cathal Ryan, directed by Jack Reardon.

Breath

📅 3rd & 4th July 📍 Junction Dome

🕒 8pm ⌚ 55mins 💰 €15 👥 15+

Steve Wickham of The Waterboys, joins actor Karl Quinn in this funny and warm-hearted play infused with the joy of music. We've all been holding our breath, but this is the story of one man who is feeling the pressure. He's trying to hold it together with online yoga, home baking, and dancing in the kitchen... but one sneeze could blow it all apart!

Swarm - Nobody panic, they've got this!

📅 2nd July 📍 Junction Dome 💰 €5

🕒 4pm & 7.20pm ⌚ 40mins 👥 All Ages

Breda, Cian and Deirdre have decided to stop climate change... with theatre! Specifically their very own version of the Irish Mythological Cycle. With dancing cows, grumpy trees, the powerful warrior with a huge bum, a public mating ritual (done tastefully) and mouth juggling (not done tastefully), how could anything go wrong? This is a very silly show made by very silly people about very important things.

The Last Witch Bridget Cleary

📅 6th/7th July 📍 Junction Dome 💰 €15

🕒 6pm/8pm ⌚ 40mins 👥 12+

A haunting one-woman play based on the true story of Tipperary woman Bridget Cleary, who was infamously burned by her husband, his excuse being that he thought her to be a changeling. A fascinating story about an equally fascinating woman set at the turn of the 20th Century, written and starring Eve O'Mahony.

The Estate

📅 5th & 8th July 📍 Junction Dome

🕒 8pm ⌚ 60mins 💰 €15 👥 18+

You're going to LOVE the neighbours! Each house has a tale to tell from the twitching curtains of the old couple to the perennial partiers of number 19. But no one can escape the terror of the midnight masked vandals, with a penchant for eggs and flaming bags of dog doo. This comedy is utterly relatable and will resonate for anyone who's ever had neighbours. Written and performed by Amy Hill and James Whelan for Down The Rabbit Hole Theatre Company.

On a House Like a Fire

📅 6th/7th July 📍 Junction Dome 💰 €15

🕒 8pm/6pm ⌚ 60mins 👥 All Ages

Sometimes in a gesture or a turn of phrase, sometimes in a cherished object or glimpsed in an old photograph, a loved one reappears. We are introduced to Margaret through glimpses of old photographs, retellings of childhood memories and the challenges of living with Alzheimers. In this nostalgic, funny and moving show writer-performer Michelle Read has collaborated with composer Brian Keegan to create a portrait of her mother in words, music and pictures.

VISUAL ARTS

This year's festival includes exhibitions about our past and present at Narrow Space in Clonmel and South Tipperary Arts Centre.

CJAF

Hidden Histories

📅 1st Jul – 27th Aug 📍 Narrow Space € FREE

🕒 Opening Reception: July 3rd, 5pm

🕒 Tues-Sat 10.30–5.30pm

Unearthed during renovations at the Old School building in Drangan, Co. Tipperary, the remains of a horse skull are now on show at the Tipperary Museum of Hidden Histories. The meaning behind burying horse skulls in the foundation of buildings may remain hidden in time. Hidden Histories at The Narrow Space takes its inspiration from this artefact with work by Vi Brazh, Jean Cullinane, Laura Dunne, Derval Freeman, Josephine Geaney, Carol Kennedy, Maura Kennedy, Hannah O Connell, and Philip Ryan.

Féilire By Lucy Phelan

📅 2nd Jun – 10th Jul 📍 Cahir Arts (E21 E004)

🕒 Opening Reception: Jun 3rd, ??pm

🕒 Tues-Sat: 10.30–5.30pm, Sun: 12–5pm

Féilire is the Irish word for calendar or more precisely, time linked by festivals. Our understanding of our existence is based on how we experience time and events. We mark the year with them: new year, Solstice, summer holidays, birthdays, and so on. In the Celtic Calendar animal imagery, text, trees and Ogham take us through the year. Féilire is a collection of small-scale etchings and digital prints by Irish artist Lucy Phelan that reflect on the Irish Celtic Calendar.

Presence - by Ed Devane

📅 1st Jul - 20th Aug 📍 South Tipperary Arts Centre

🕒 Opening Reception: July 1st, 6pm 💰 FREE

🕒 Mon-Sat 10-5pm 👤 All Ages

Presence is a system of interactive sound objects created by sound artist Ed Devane. A collection of acoustic and electronic sound sculptures will interact with visitors through mechanical and electronic means to create sequences of musical sounds. The sculptures will react to people in unpredictable ways.

The Running Stitch by Des Dillon

📅 4th - 16th Jul 📍 Clonmel Library 💰 FREE

🕒 Library Opening Hours 👤 ???

Des Dillon, who lives and works in Clonmel, creates artworks from painted fabric which is then stitched into 3D wall works. He has made masks, puppets, props and costumes for theatre. A survey of his past works will be exhibited at Clonmel Library, responding to the festival's Hidden Histories theme.

FILM

In true Cinema Paradiso style, a pop up cinema will bring people together and screen films during this year's festival.

CJAF

iGirl

📅 10th July 📍 Juntion Dome 💰 €15
🕒 8pm ⌚ 60mins 👥 ???

What if neanderthals had survived instead of homo sapiens? A woman questions evolution from a female point of view and in parallel questions her own life, her successes and failures, with a dry humour, a stoic sense of disappointment and curiosity to explore how things might have been different. Her contemplations channel a range of historical characters including Joan of Arc, Antigone and the Neanderthal. iGirl is a film by Trish McAdam, based on the poem by Marina Carr, with an extraordinary cast including Eileen Walsh and Cathy Belton. iGirl has been described as upending feminism and is an intimate exploration of our search for meaning in history, myth and the stories human beings have told themselves since the beginning of time. Trish McAdam adds layers of visual intrigue including drawings, paintings and animated art to create a mesmeric film. This is the premiere of a co-production by Niche Films with Clonmel Junction Arts Festival.

Tan Ann - Film Series by Nóta Stóta

📅 30th June – 10th July 📍 Market Place
🕒 11-4pm ⌚ 10mins 💰 FREE 👥 All Ages

It is said in Ireland that we are only three feet from the otherworld and in thin places even less. It is these thin or magic places that Tan Ann seeks to recreate through a blend of visual art, unique puppetry, original music and captivating location in a series of six short films. These films based on Irish folklore and mythology have been produced by Conal Ó Gráda, Benny McCarthy and Des Dillon.

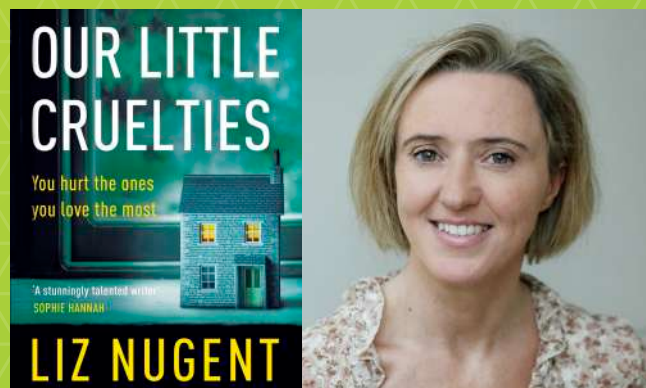

TUS Films

📅 5th – 9th / 10th July ⌚ 10-5pm/4pm 💰 FREE
📍 STAC/Junction Dome 👥 ???

Marah has always seen the world through rose coloured glasses until one day, it shatters before their eyes. Kyle is known for being a troublemaker. He decides to entertain himself on a boring school trip and breaks the rules, but as it turns out, stealing a cursed mask from the museum wasn't the best idea. A bachelor has an expected guest and must protect what's most important to him. TUS (LIT) Digital Animation student production teams have created a series of animated films for the festival on the theme of 'Hidden Histories'.

LITERATURE

From writer interviews and spoken word through to our very own book club with the author.

Liz Nugent in conversation with Elaine Feeney

📅 9th July 📍 Junction Dome 👥 18+
🕒 8pm ⌚ 60mins 💰 FREE

Liz Nugent, one of Ireland's favourite crime writers chats with Elaine Feeney, author of As You Were followed by a Q&A with the audience.

Book Club with Donal Ryan

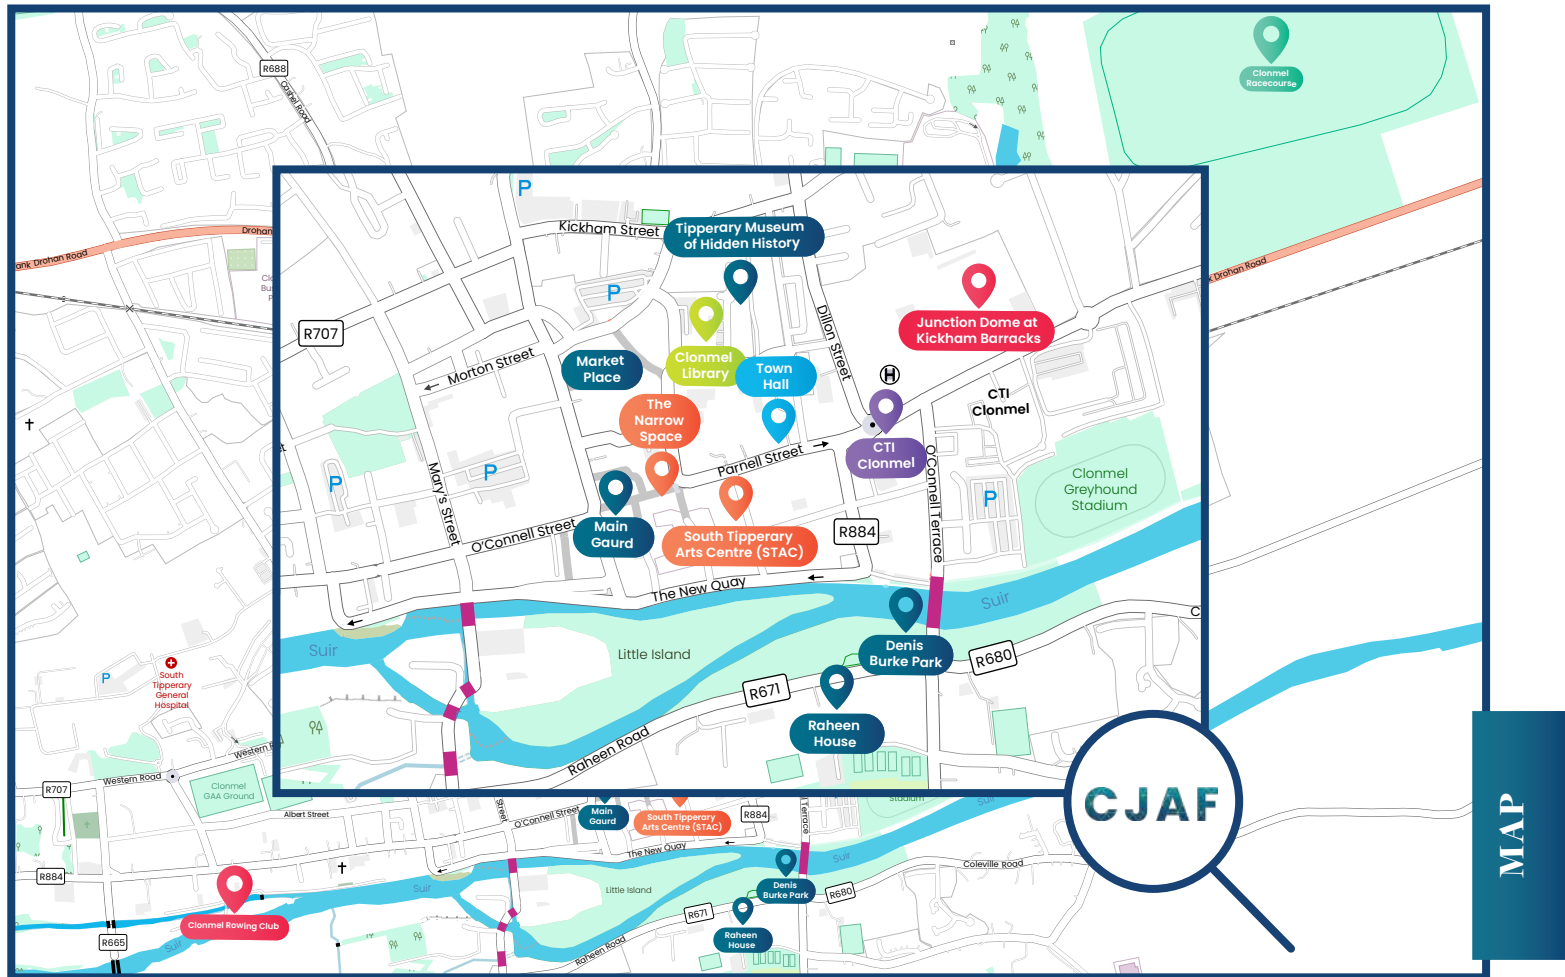

📅 10th July 📍 Raheen House 👥 ???
🕒 4pm ⌚ 60mins 💰 FREE

Imagine the author of the book came to your book club. Donal Ryan joins our book club to discuss The Spinning Heart. Copies of The Spinning Heart will be available for anyone attending this event.

Hidden Histories – Spoken Word

📅 9th July 📍 Junction Dome 👥 16+
🕒 6pm ⌚ 120mins 💰 FREE

Local author Eileen Acheson will bring together poetry and spoken word from local writers and poets, all at different stages of their writing lives to respond to the festival theme, this year being Hidden Histories.

CIRCUS & DANCE

Just like the circus coming to town
Clonmel Junction Arts Festival will bring acrobatic spectacle to the Dome.

CJAF

Rising Voices - Tipperary Dance

📅 9th & 10th July 📍 Main Guard

🕒 5pm ⌚ 60mins 💶 €5 👥 All Ages

Our body is both extremely intimate and extremely universal. This project is a deep, joint reflection on the nature and value of the body as a place to be and co-exist, and how we share such experience. And the only way for the young dancers who perform this is to find their own voice. Rising Voices is a residency for three young dancers giving them the opportunity to gain professional experience. This is their performance of a new contemporary dance piece.

Cikada Circus 📅 2nd/3rd July 📍 Junction Dome/Racecourse CS ⌚ 3pm 💰 FREE 👥 All Ages

Two acrobats welcome you into a world that yoyo's between the harmonious and the absurd, where lines are blurred between human and nature. Cikada puts a smile your face and leaves you captivated.

Bench Encounter - Cikada Circus

📅 3rd July 📍 Denis Burke Park 💰 FREE
⌚ 2pm ⌚ 15mins 👥 All Ages

An unexpected encounter between two contrasting characters on a park bench. Watch their worlds turn around as their unlikely friendship unfolds. Bench Encounter is a small-scale performance that takes place on a park bench using theatrical-acrobatics.

Belonging - Cikada Circus

📅 2nd July 📍 Junction Dome 💰 FREE
⌚ 6pm ⌚ 20mins 👥 All Ages

Belonging is a duo performance piece created specifically for indoor spaces, which revolves around the performers using stretch fabric to create moving sculptures, abstract shapes and forms to heighten senses and scenes of belonging in varying forms.

CLASSES & WORKSHOPS

We hope to spark conversations and ideas on how to improve the place we call home. These are our stories past and present, brought to life by our local artists and visiting performers with our audiences.

CJAF

Teens Learn to Write

This Teen Writing workshop is a great opportunity for young writers to share ideas, hone their writing skills and pick up some tips from an experienced writer. Elaine Feeney lectures in poetry and creative writing at NUI Galway.

Act out the Future

A workshop held by local theatre maker Tara Power based on empowering younger children to solve problems concerning the empty shop units through drama.

Theatre In Development

Theatre in development – Local writers bring work from the page to the stage in rehearsed readings. The Girl Who Went To Pluto by Catherine McVicker, presented with Presentation Secondary Transition Year students. Birdie Burke – The Jihadi Punk Rocker is a short story by Joe Whelan developed as a one-man show for this reading.

Instrument Building for Families with Ed Devane

In this instrument building workshop, sound artist Ed Devane will demonstrate how everyday materials and recycled objects such as plastic containers and tubes can be turned into a variety of noise makers and simple instruments.

Cikada Circus Workshops

Cikada Circus will work with local amateur sports people in gyms to teach impressive moves in acrobatics.

Music Generation Tradcamp

Music Generation will teach our young musicians trad and folk music from the region which would otherwise be forgotten.

Dance and DJ the Future

Parliament of the Future is a workshop for teens sparks conversations based on young people's own interests and opinions about what we can do to improve our future. Participants are invited on a journey into the future through the body, music and words.

Adults Writing about Memories

Writer-performer Michelle Read invites you to choose and share an object that holds good memories of someone significant in your life. Michelle will lead conversation and writing exercises which focus on capturing those important memories.

CHECK OUR WEBSITE FOR FULL DETAILS ON ALL WORKSHOPS AND WORKSHOP SUITABILITY.

ECO SHOWBOAT

The Eco Showboat is a floating art studio and science lab that aims to connect communities in building a zero-carbon future.

CJAF

What is the Eco Showboat?

The Eco Showboat is a river expedition from Limerick to Enniskillen on the Mayfly, the first solar electric boat to make this journey, taking place this summer to raise awareness of climate change. The project is the brain child of artists Anne Cleary and Denis Connolly. The artists are taking a break from their travels to share their experiences at Junction Festival. Film screenings, artists talks, poetry readings and workshops will be held at the Pangolin Pavilion, an artist-designed sculptural pop up space constructed from parasols. They also invite you to spend a few moments observing freshwater biodiversity with them during a "Slow Looking" workshop.
